

Networking Urban Resources with Teachers and University to enRich Early Childhood Science

Lacey Strickler-Eppard Curriculum Director

Lacey Strickler-Eppard is the Curriculum Director for the NURTURES grant and a doctoral student at The University of Toledo in the Department of Curriculum and Instruction focusing on science education. Previously she completed a BS in Biology and an MS in Molecular and Cellular Biology. She has experience working within the informal science education field and her primary research interest is family science learning in informal settings.

